

Travel

Have you ever taken a business trip? Where did you go?	Should a business traveller stay in a five-star hotel or something cheaper?
What kind of things do you think travel expenses should cover?	What are normally the main objectives of a business trip?
Would you be happy to travel to the other side of the world on business?	Where in the world would you love to go on business?
Is it important to travel first class on a business trip?	What sort of entertainment should a business traveller expect from their host?
What are the five most important things you should take on a business trip?	If you go abroad on business, should you try and learn the language of your hosts?
Would you be happy to travel regularly on business (e.g. every month)?	Now we have Skype, there is no real reason for business travel. Do you agree?
